

A photograph of a stone tomb entrance. The tomb is a simple, rectangular structure made of rough-hewn, light-colored stone blocks. The entrance is a dark, arched opening. To the left of the tomb, there is a small garden bed with various flowers, including purple and red ones. To the right, there is a small wooden door or panel set into the stone wall, with a few steps leading up to it. The overall scene is outdoors, with natural light and shadows.

Today's Message

*The Message today is Should We Believe
In the Resurrection?*

Did You Hear That?

If you occasionally have trouble hearing parts of the service, consider trying out one of our assisted hearing devices or just ask to try one out to find out how they work so that you can suggest it for someone, perhaps a visitor, who may be helped by one.

Also, if you missed a service, the sermons are available for listening on our web site (listed in the bulletin) or you can request an audio CD with the sermon or full service on it.

Devotional Guides

The “Upper Room” and “Our Daily Bread” are collections of daily devotions. These guides are available in pocket editions as well as large print. Please pick up a copy of either or both in the narthex and make these readings a part of your daily routine.
